

Midnight Arts

Research & Writing

This company, founded by Rob Ingram in 1986, has operated as a partnership between Rob Ingram and Helene Dobrowolsky since 1988. Previously, both principals had several years experience working in the heritage field for the Yukon government and, in Rob's case, the Alberta government.

Our joint and individual projects have included research, writing and editing; design; graphic and fine art; exhibit preparation; heritage resource inventory, evaluation, planning and management; Yukon history/oral history instruction; and curriculum development.

On many projects, we have worked with a team of other specialists – as both lead consultants and team members – including film makers, architects, planners, designers, educators, naturalists, interpreters and community resource people. See the following pages for a listing of our clients and projects.

THE PARTNERS

Helene Dobrowolsky

Helene is the main researcher and writer for the partnership. She has conducted research in libraries and archives throughout Canada and the United States. Helene is also skilled in internet research and is proficient in finding information from a variety of online sources. She has extensive experience in reviewing and assessing a variety of materials including historic photographs, maps & plans, government records, scientific reports, audio/visual resources and legal documents to find the most relevant and interesting details to flesh out a story.

Her writings include numerous articles, brochures, booklets, books, video scripts and reports on a variety of topics relating to aspects of northern history. She is also an oral history specialist. As well as managing several oral history projects, Helene has taught several workshops and written three booklets on the subject. On many larger projects, Helene's communication and administration skills have ensured that all parties are up-to-date on developments and working together smoothly.
